Dear Mr. Kolb:

Thank you again for sending protective agents to the Fifth Annual Walk for Kids on Saturday, May 21, 2005 to help our young celebrity hosts navigate through the crowds. Both years that you have provided us with protective agents, I have gotten feedback from the hosts' happy parents letting me know how much they appreciate your guys being there!

As you know, the Walk for Kids benefits the Los Angeles Ronald McDonald House[®], allowing us to continue to provide these families a "home-away-from-home" while their children receive treatment for serious illnesses at nearby hospitals. Over 55% of our families are unable to afford the nominal nightly fee of $7.00, yet not a single family has ever been turned away because of an inability to pay.

Last year's spectacular Walk for Kids, with over 300 attendees, raised $55,000, nearly three times what we raised in 2003! And this year, the 2005 Walk for Kids with just over 500 attendees, raised over $85,000!

The Walk for Kids has become instrumental during the past three years as we strive to meet our annual budget while in the midst of a multi-million dollar capital campaign. We thank you again for your continued support of both the Walk and the Los Angeles Ronald McDonald House!

I look forward to working with you again in the future and hope to see you at next year's Walk for Kids on Saturday, June 3, 2006!

Very Sincerely,

Carrie Burkle Monteavaro
